I signed from the Coalition presterday in protest against the Cabinet's decision on who is a Jew. Yet it is difficult to see how the Cabinet could have decided otherwise. Indeed, the rabbinical authorities themselves would be hard put to it to make a definition even if their hands were not tied and their judgment complicated by the political considerations which have arisen. In brief, to Orthodoxy a Jew is one born of a known Jewish mother who did not stand in any prohibited decree with the father of the child. If she did, the child is a bastard, but could still be a Jew who could enter the congregation after ten generations. Once a Jew, always a Jew, according to an edict which states that even though he sinned, he remains a Jew. Thus a Christian woman of Jewish birth might conceivably have once come to a Beit Dis claiming that, being born of Jewish mothers they are Jewish and would like to be married by Jewish rites. Now, according to the Cabinet definition of a Jew "that he does not profess another eligion," this could not

BUT leaving aside such hypothetical cases, there are great problems confronting Orthodox tribunals today. Since for several generations now there have been a large number of marriages contracted between Jews and Jewesses which fall under prohibited decrees — such as widows remarrying without holitza and divorcees marrying priests — there must be very many Jews about who do not strictly conform to Orthodox requirements, yet no one knows anything about it, The offspring of such marriages are Jews who may not come into the Congregation of the Lord. The worries of Orthodox Jewry in this respect were ventilated at a recent Rabbinical conference in dox Jewry in this respect were ventilated at a recent Rabbinical conference in Britain. A Dayon of the London Beit Din brought forward the proposal that henceforth a Jewish birth register be kept at its head-quarters so that, in the course of time, when any couple seeks Orthodox marriage it will be possible to check whether they are good Jews, by Rabbinic definition. This will make Orthodox Jews feel easier in their minds, but still it does not provide for the situation whereby today there are so many millions, literally, of Jews who do not conform to the Orthodox requirements. Most of these are outside israel; but since all are potential immigrants into Israel, some definition had to be found which would cover all Jews as far as Israel is concerned. That is why the Cabinet ruling is sensible and practical when it says that a Jew is one who declares in good faith that he is a Jew and that he does not profess another religion. It has some slightly derensible warrant too, in the Jewish codes, though the relevant plassages are so under the series in good fash that he is a Jew and that bours from which the path in Inzeel territory. West Germany's Ambassame of the Jewish codes, though the path in Inzeel territory and practical and discretion that the supplet to interpretation and the suppl

Explosion Near H.Q.

A terrorist bomb exploded within 100 yards of the U.N. headquarters in Beirut as Mr. Hammarskjold entered the building on his return from Cairo. The bomb was placed in a box outside Spinney's grocery store, a British concern. UPI reports that the store stayed open throughout last month's general strike and was bombed once before. The agency quoted observers in Beirut as saying the fact that the explosion occurred within minutes of Mr. Hammarskjold's arrival appeared to be a coincidence. The store was closed at the time and there were no casualties.

Immediately on his arrival the U.N. Secretary called a conference of his top advisers and observers.

At about noon, Mr. Hammarskjold, flanked by armed police and soldiers, drove to the heavily-guarded residence of Prime Minister Sami e-Solh for lunch. Also at the lunch were top U.N. officials and Lebanese Ministers.

Afterwards, Mr. Hammarskjold forove to the Presidential Palace and had an hour-long talk with President Camille Chamoun.

There were frequent noisy exchanges of spithets between the Herut and Mapai benches, the first one occurring when Mr. Begin, at the close of his apeech, turned to the Mapai Members and said: "Get over your fear and tell your leader to check his tongue; the Knesset is not your party Council; here there will be no monologues; here he will get two for one."

Mr. Begin characterized Mr. Ben-Gurion's interpretation that Army officers may not speak on foreign policy or security but may do so on domestic issues as "distorted, artificial, absurd and child-ish."

David Ben-Gurion amounced in the Knesset Tuesday that he had issued an order to Aluf Moshe Dayan to discontinue public speeches.

Mr. ben-Gurion said this in the course of his reply to a motion of non-confidence presented by Mr. Menahem Begin (Herut), during which the entire Herut faction were called to order by the Speaker for their repeated attempts to prevent Mr. Ben-Gurion from talking.

The motion was defeated by a vote of 63-27, with three hostentions. Only the General Zionists joined Herut in supporting the motion, while the five Coalition parties opposed R. Aguda-Foatel Aguda abstained, and the Communists did not partier pate in the vote.

Herut submitted the motion for the agenda last Wednesday in which he defended the right of Army officers to speak in public on domestic Drick Mr. Ben-Gurion also made the taunt that Mr. Begin had not participated in the War of Liberation.

Joseph Reports On Investment Plan

Implementation of a plan to establish development companies in Israel, with shares to be sold the world over, is expected to begin in the autumn, Dr. Dov Joseph, Treasurer of the Jewish Agency, said Monday.

Dr. Joseph, on his return from a trip to England, the U.S. Canada and several Lotin American countries to discuss the plan with Zionist leaders, told the film correspondent at Lydda that the establishment of the companies and the form they would take would be discussed at the meeting in August of the Inner Zionist Council.

Shares would be sold at 250-5500 each, making this a popular venture which would enable every Jew to participate in the upbuilding of the homeland, Dr. Joseph explained.

It is almost certain that the cost-of-living Index will drop by between eight and nine points during June, in which case a c-ol allowance of between ILA-100 and ILLS will be granted, it was learned on Tuesday from well informed sources in Jerusalem. The sharp drop in the index is the result of the heavy subsidies paid on fruits and vegetables in the first part of the month and the ample supply in the latter half. Meanwhile, the public committee working on a new system of Index calculation is expected to complete its work in a few months, and the modified Index introduced by January or February after a two-month trial by the Central Bureau of Statistics.

Hapoel) and some 5.000 more came to see the ball jugglers from Brazil.

Flamengo showed virtuesity both as individualists and as a fast moving combination. Though the Petah Tikva team fought pluckily throughout the 90 minutes, they were outpaced and outclassed in this company. Flamengo, minus four stars absent with the National side in Sweden, still fielded six internationals.

A bag of tricks the likes of which have never been seen in Israel was emptied onto the field by outside right Baba, less than five feet tall. It seemed impossible to get the ball away from his twinking feet as he wove in and out of the Fetah Tikva defence at will — completely confusing the defenders and sometimes even his own teammates.

Also outstanding was inside Louis Carlos, who accred two goals — in the 10th and 74th minutes. Outside left Al. fredinho scored in the 52nd minute with a 20 metre drive. Means of Payment Rise 14.2% Since May 1952

The Athenians were in better physical condition than the local side and deserved to win by a larger margin. Their football, if not as artistic as that of the Brazilians, was direct for goal.

On Thursday, Flamenge faces Tel Aviv Hapoel and Fostir plays Petah Tikva Ha-poel, both matches at the Haifa Municipal Stadium.
